7.8 kilos of body: a drawer that does not shift on the counter and does not give under heavy use.

3-position lock
Locked, open or electronic, with a manual emergency release if the power goes out.

One million openings
Professional-grade service life: at 300 operations a day, that is more than nine years of use.

The Epson RJ11 standard: the drawer does not connect to the computer but to the receipt printer, with a 6-pin RJ11 cable. That connector follows the standard Epson set and almost the whole industry adopted, so it works with most POS printers on the market. It is worth checking that the printer has that port before quoting.
